Pennsylvania ss:		Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Geo: Wolf		George Wolf Governor of the said Com-
{ Place of the }		Commonwealth
{ Great Seal }	To all to whom these presents shall come
	Sends Greeting:

Whereas I have received authentic information that a wanton and nefarious attempt has recently been made by incendiaries to destroy by fire the Town of Port Carbon in the County of Schuylkill in this Commonwealth, thereby endangering the lives and property of the Citizens of the said town and neighbourhood.

And Whereas, the reputation of the government, the peace and security of its Citizens and the obligations of justice and humanity require that the perpetrators of so daring a crime should be discovered and punished, I have therefore thought proper to issue this proclamation, hereby offering a reward of Two hundred dollars, to any person or persons who shall apprehend and secure the incendiary or incendiaries in the Jail of the County of Schuylkill; which sum is to be paid upon the conviction of the perpetrators of the crime aforesaid; and I do moreover promise a free pardon to any accessory who may give such information as may lead to the conviction of the offender or offenders, and all Judges, Justices, Sheriffs, Coroners, Constables and other officers within this Commonwealth are hereby required and enjoined to be attentive and vigilant in enquiring after and bringing to Justice the person or persons guilty of the crime aforesaid.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State at Harrisburg this tenth day of May in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and thirty-two, and of the Commonwealth the fifty-sixth.

By the Governor,

A Warrant was this day signed by the Governor authorising the State treasurer to pay to Henry Mumfer and Solomon Bower of Toboyne township in the County of Perry or to their order One thousand dollars being the sum appropriated by an Act of the General Assembly passed the fourth day of May last, for the purpose of improving that part of the State road between Shippensburg in Cumberland County and Lewistown in Mifflin County which crosses the Conococheague hill between the upper end of Shearmans Valley and Horse valley to commence on the north side of the Conococheague hill, for the faithful and judicious expenditure of which sum according to the true intent and meaning of the said Act of the General Assembly, the said Commissioners have given bond with sureties approved by the President Judge and one Associate Judge of the Court of Commonpleas in compliance with the provisions of the said Act of Assembly.

A Proclamation was this day signed by the Governor and issued under the Great Seal of the State in the following words—that is to say:

Pennsylvania Ss:	In the Name and by the authority of the

A Proclamation.

It having pleased the Sovereign Ruler of the Universe in the course of his just and wise providence to visit our beloved Country with a desolating Pestilence denominated the Spasmodic or Asiatic Cholera, and believing that mercy is a distinguishing attribute of the Deity, that he exhibits his strange works of Judgment by the infliction of chastisements upon his creatures because of their transgressions for the benign purpose of causing them to turn from the evil of their ways, and to fly unto him as to their sure refuge, and the rock of their salvation.

And although the propriety of recommending a fast, by the Civil authority of a State is doubted by some, and altogether denied by others, Yet when a whole people is threatened with the visitation of "the Pestilence that walketh in darkness," bearing death and destruction in its train, it becomes the duty of all, whether occupying civil or religious stations, to arouse their fellow citizens to a sense of their danger, and to exhort them as one man, to devote themselves in humility and Godly fear on a day to be set apart for that purpose to the service of the God of Nations and to unite in common supplication to him, in whose hands our lives are, that he would graciously avert from us the threatened calamity, or mitigate its desolating severity. Under these impressions, and in accordance with an intimation of an earnest desire on the part of a respectable number of the Reverend Clergy of different religious denominations, and other devout and well disposed citizens of this Commonwealth, that the Executive of this State would recommend to the people of the same the observance of a day to be set apart as a day of fasting humiliation and prayer—I do therefore, hereby earnestly recommend to all my fellow Citizens within this Commonwealth, that laying aside, as far as practicable, all worldly avocations they observe Thursday the ninth day of August next as a day of humiliation, fasting and prayer, imploring the God of Heaven to remit unto us all our iniquities, transgressions and sins; deprecating his merited displeasure, supplicating his mercy that the hand of the destroying Angel may be stayed, that we may be preserved as individuals, and as a people from the desolating scourge, or that in the midst of deserved wrath, he would be pleased to remember our frailty and his unbounded mercy— That he would in tender compassion for his weak and erring creatures, mitigate the inflictions he may in his wisdom see fit to lay upon us and prepare us to receive with a becoming temper his righteous award.

And it is further recommended that the good people of this Commonwealth, accompany their Supplications with the sacrifice of praise and thanksgiving to the father of all mercies, that in his infinite goodness, he hath hitherto preserved us as spared monuments of his mercy; for having in great loving kindness extended unto us a long continuance of healthful seasons, and for his unremitting goodness in mingling with his Judgment, many rich blessings both of a spiritual and temporal nature.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at Harrisburg, the seventeenth day of July in the year of Our Lord, One thousand eight hundred and thirty two, and of the Commonwealth the fifty seventh.

By the Governor,

James Trimble, Deputy Secy.

Andrew Pettit, Robert Patterson Clement C. Biddle Peter A. Browne & Thomas P. Roberts of the City of Philadelphia were this day appointed by the Governor Commissioners to superintend the drawing of the Union Canal Lotteries numbered Fifteen & Sixteen for the year One thousand eight hundred and thirty two, of a new Series of lotteries authorised in and by an Act of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth passed the second day of April 1811 entitled "An Act to incorporate the Union Canal Company of Pennsylvania," and to do and perform all other matters and things as are required and enjoined upon them in and by the said Act of Assembly.

Under the authority contained in a Resolution of the General Assembly passed the ninth day of June last, the Governor this day Subscribed in the name and for the use of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania One hundred and twenty shares of the stock of the Mountpleasant and Pittsburg Turnpike Road Company at Fifty dollars each share amounting to six thousand dollars, the Company having been incorporated by the name of the Mountpleasant Free Road Company by an Act of Assembly passed the 10th day of April 1828, but by one other Act of the General Assembly passed the 5th day of April 1830 the name and style of the Company was changed to that of the Mount pleasant and Pittsburg Turnpike Road Company.

Friday July 20th 1832.

A pardon was this day granted by the Governor to Elizabeth Magoffin who was convicted of the crime of Forgery, and of passing counterfeit bank notes, knowing them to have been forged and counterfeit, and thereupon was Sentenced by the Mayors Court of Philadelphia to pay a fine of one cent with costs of suit, and to undergo an imprisonment by separate or solitary confinement at labour in the State penitentiary for the Eastern district for the term of one year from the time of conviction; the prisoner having been recommended for a pardon by the Recorder, the Jury that tried her and several respectable Citizens, who requested the Governor to pardon her in consideration of the particular circumstances of her own case, and also of her having given useful information that has led to the arrestation and confinement of the individual who was concerned with her in the commission of the said crime.

Saturday July 21st 1832.

A Charter was this day signed by the Governor and issued under the Great Seal of the State incorporating under the provisions of an Act of the General Assembly passed the 23^d day of April last entitled "An Act to establish the Western Bank of Philadelphia," the Subscribers to the stock of the said Bank to the number of ten thousand shares, and referring to and adopting certain provisions of other Acts of the General Assembly passed the 21st day of March 1814, the 25th day of March 1824 and the 11th day of April 1827 it appearing that the requirements and enactments of the General Assembly have been complied with, and the majority of the Commissioners appointed to carry into effect the establishment of the Bank in and by the first mentioned Act having duly certified that more than fifty persons have subscribed the said number of ten thousand shares of the stock of the said Company; and have actually paid into their hands twenty per cent on the amount so subscribed.

	In the Name and by the authority of the
Pennsylvania Ss:	Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Geo: Wolf	George Wolf Governor of the said Com-
{ Place of the }	monwealth
{ Great Seal }	To all to whom these presents shall come
	Sends Greeting:

Whereas in and by a certain Act of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth passed the twenty third day of April last entitled "An Act to establish the Western Bank of Philadelphia," referring to and adopting certain provisions of other Acts of Assembly passed the twenty first day of March One thousand eight hundred and fourteen, the twenty fifth day of March One thousand eight hundred and twenty four and the eleventh day of April One thousand eight hundred and twenty seven. It is provided and enacted that a Bank shall be established and located between Ninth and Broad Streets in the City of Philadelphia, to be known by the name of the "Western Bank of Philadelphia," and that when fifty or more persons shall have Subscribed not less than half the number of Shares allotted to the said Bank and the Sum of twenty per cent has been actually paid on the amount so subscribed the Commissioners named in the first above mentioned Act or a majority of them shall certify under their hands and seals the names of the Subscribers and the number of shares Subscribed by each together with the amount so actually paid to the Governor of this Commonwealth, and thereupon the Governor shall by

Letters Patent under his hand and the Seal of the State create and erect the said subscribers, and if the whole number of Shares be not then subscribed, then also those who shall afterwards subscribe to the number of ten thousand shares in the whole into one body politic and corporate in deed and in law by the name style and title of "The Western Bank of Philadelphia:" And Whereas James L. Dougherty, Edwin F. Scott, John Humes, Michael W. Ash William Vogdes, Peter Hertzog, Alexander M. Caraher Charles Egner, William Matheys, John Crean, Junr John Laws, Henry Simpson George Emerick, Joseph Yeager, Freeman Scott, Jacob Heyberger, James M. Connell, William Hall, Theodore Colladay, Thomas J. Petricken, George Troutman, Robert Patterson, Abraham Okie, Thomas C. Maberry, Edwin N. Bridges, Michael E. Israel, William Craig, James Keefe, James Fearon, and William G. Alexander a majority of the Commissioners named in the first mentioned Act of Assembly to carry into effect the establishment of the above named Bank have certified to me under their respective hands and Seals that more fifty persons have subscribed ten thousand shares of the stock thereof being the whole number authorized by law (a list of whose names with the number of shares subscribed by each is hereunto annexed) and it being also, certified to me that the amount of twenty per cent on the stock so subscribed being One hundred thousand dollars has been actually paid to the said Commissioners by the said subscribers, and it appearing that in all respects the requirements and enactments of the Legislature have been complied with: Now know ye, that in pursuance of the power and authority to me given in and by the several Acts of the General Assembly before referred to, I the said George Wolf Governor of the said Commonwealth do by these presents which I have caused to be made patent and Sealed with the Great Seal of the State, create and erect all and every of the subscribers in the said list particularly named into one body politic and corporate in deed and in law by the name style and title of "The Western Bank of Philadelphia," hereby declaring that by the said name they shall have continued succession until the first day of November One thousand eight hundred and forty seven, and no longer, the said subscribers generally to be subject to all the duties requisitions and restrictions, and invested with all the rights powers and privileges with full force and effect for the period aforesaid which by the laws authorising and directing these Letters patent to issue is intended to be prescribed and enjoined and given and granted unless the Legislature of this Commonwealth shall sooner revoke and annul these chartered privileges.

In Testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at Harrisburg the twenty first day of July in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and thirty-two, and of the Commonwealth the fifty-seventh.

By the Governor.

James Trimble Depy Secy

We Commissioners of the Western Bank of Philadelphia hereby Certify under our hands & Seals the following names of the subscribers and the number of shares subscribed by each, together with the amount so actually paid, being two instalments of five dollars on each share and twenty per cent actually paid in of the Capital Stock of the Western Bank of Philadelphia, agreeably to the Act of Assembly approved by the Governor on the 23^d day of April A. D. 1832 entitled "An act to establish the Western Bank of Philadelphia.

In the Name and by the authority of the
Pennsylvania ss:	Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Geo: Wolf	By George Wolf Governor of the { Place of the }	said Commonwealth.
{ Great Seal }	A Proclamation.

Whereas, I have received authentic information that Captain William Donnelley, a citizen of Morris township in the County of Huntingdon in this Commonwealth, was on the night of the 22^d inst, atrociously murdered in his own house, by some person or persons unknown: And whereas, the reputation of the government, the peace and security of its citizens, and the obligations of Justice and humanity require that the perpetrator of an offence so heinous should be brought to speedy and condign punishment—I have therefore thought proper to issue this proclamation, hereby offering a reward of One hundred dollars to any person or persons who shall apprehend the murderer or murderers within the County of Huntingdon, and secure him or them in the Jail of the said County; and the sum of Two hundred and fifty dollars, if the said offender or offenders shall be apprehended and secured without the limits of this State—which sum or sums are to be paid on the conviction of the perpetrator or perpetrators of the crime aforesaid; And all Judges, Justices, Sheriffs, Coroners, Constables, and other officers within this Commonwealth, are hereby required and enjoined to be attentive and vigilant in enquiring after, and bringing to Justice the alleged perpetrator or perpetrators of the crime aforesaid.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this twenty eighth day of July in the year of our Lord One thousand eight hundred and thirty two, and of the Commonwealth the fifty seventh.

By the Governor,
James Trimble, Depy Secy.

The Charter is in the following words vizt.

Pennsylvania ss:

Geo: Wolf.

In the name and by the authority of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

{Place of the} {Great Seal }

George Wolf Governor of the said Commonwealth

To all to whom these presents shall come
Sends Greeting:

Whereas in and by a certain Act of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth passed the ninth day of June last entitled, "An Act to establish the Bank of Middletown," referring to and adopting certain provisions of other Acts of Assembly passed the 21st day of March 1814, the 25th day of March 1824, and the 11th day of April 1827, it is provided and enacted that a Bank shall be established in the County of Dauphin, to be known by the name of the Bank of Middletown, to be located at Middletown in the said County of Dauphin, and that when fifty or more persons shall have subscribed not less than half the number of shares allotted to the said Bank, and the sum of twenty per cent has been actually paid on the amount so subscribed, the Commissioners named in the first above mentioned Act or a majority of them shall certify under their hands and Seals the names of the subscribers and the number of Shares subscribed by each, together with the amount so actually paid to the Governor of this Commonwealth, and thereupon the Governor shall by Letters patent under his hand and the Seal of the State create and erect the said subscribers, and if the whole number of shares be not then subscribed, then also those who shall afterwards subscribe to the number of four thousand shares in the whole, into one body politic and corporate in deed and in law by the name style and title of the Bank of Middletown in the County of Dauphin. And Whereas Benjamin Jordan, David McKibbin, Joseph Ross, Mercer Brown, Henry Smith, Henry Welsh, Simon Cameron, Martin Kendig, Alexander Cardon and George Lowman a majority of the Commissioners named in the first mentioned Act of Assembly to carry into effect the establishment of the above named Bank, have certified to me in writing under their respective hands and Seals that more than fifty persons have subscribed two thousand shares of the stock thereof at fifty dollars a share, amounting to one hundred thousand dollars (a list of whose names with the number of shares subscribed by each is hereunto annexed) and it being also certified to me that twenty per cent of the amount of the stock so subscribed being twenty thousand dollars has been actually paid to the attending Commissioners by the said subscribers and it appearing that in all respects the requirements and enactments of the Legislature have been complied with: Now know ye, that in pursuance of the power and authority to me given in and by the several Acts of the General Assembly before referred to, I the said George Wolf Governor of the said Commonwealth, do by these presents which I have caused to be made patent, and Sealed with the Great Seal of the State create and erect all and every of the subscribers in the said list particularly named, and also all those who may hereafter subscribe according to and under the provisions of the said Act of the General Assembly to the number of four thousand shares in the whole, into one body politic and corporate in deed and in law by the name style and title of the Bank of Middletown in the County of Dauphin, hereby declaring that by the said name they shall have continued succession until the first day of November in the year One thousand eight hundred and forty two, and no longer, the said subscribers generally to be subject to all the duties requisitions and restrictions, and invested with all the rights, powers and privileges with full force and effect for the period aforesaid, which by the laws authorising and directing these letters patent to issue, is intended to be prescribed and enjoined and given and granted, unless the Legislature of this Commonwealth shall sooner revoke and annul these Chartered privileges.

In Testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State to be affixed at Harrisburg the twenty second day of August in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and thirty two, and of the Commonwealth the fifty seventh.

By the Governor,
Saml McKean, Secy Comth

Monday December 17th 1832.

A Warrant was this day signed by the Governor authorizing Samuel McKean, Daniel Sturgeon and Alexander Mahon Esquires Commissioners of the Internal improvement fund of the Commonwealth, to pay to Alexander Mahon Esqr Treasurer of the Board of Canal Commissioners, or to his order, out of the monies arising from the permanent loan, under the Act of the thirtieth of March last appropriated by law for the construction of the public works, the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars to be Judiciously applied and expended by the said Commissioners in the work of constructing said improvements according to the true intent and meaning of the several Acts of the General Assembly which authorize the same, and to be accounted for as is directed by law.

Tuesday December 18th 1832.

A Certificate of the election of George Wolf as Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania signed by the Speaker of the Senate and by the Speaker of the House of Representatives was presented to the Governor elect who thereupon was introduced by a Joint Committee of both Houses of the Legislature in joint meeting in the Chamber of the House of Representatives where being seated in front of the Speakers of both Houses, the oaths required by the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth were administered to him in due form by the Speaker of the Senate in the presence of the Members of the Senate, and the Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives, and the said Oaths were subscribed by him.

Proclamation of the said Election having been duly made and the Governor being duly qualified as aforesaid he addressed both Houses of the Legislature in the following words to wit:

Fellow Citizens:

By a majority of the suffrages with which I have been recently favoured by the freemen of this great and flourishing State, I have been called to discharge for a second term of three years, the responsible duties of the first Office in their gift.

In obedience to their will I have presented myself here and taken the oaths prescribed by the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth preparatory to entering upon the execution of the important trust, and I seize this public occasion to express to the good people of Pennsylvania my most grateful acknowledgments for this renewed testimonial of their confidence—a confidence the more highly prized, because it furnishes the consolatory proof that the acts and measures of my administration during the constitutional term which has just ended, have been approved by them, and justifies the reasonable conclusion, that a similar course of policy for that which has now commenced will be equally acceptable to them.

Hitherto the constitution and laws of the United States and of this State have been my constant guide, and the happiness of the people of Pennsylvania has been my peculiar aim—Acknowledging the sovereignty of the people, it has been my desire, as well as my endeavour, to ascertain and execute their will. Ever bowing submissively to the majesty and supremacy of the laws, I have made it my business, as it was my duty to see that they were faithfully executed. Economy in the expenditure of the public treasure has been strictly enjoined. The public credit has been carefully maintained, and, it is believed, firmly established. Our public works of internal improvement have been prosecuted with energy diligence and perseverance. A general system of common School education has, from time to time, been pertinaciously and earnestly urged upon the attention of the Legislature. A Judiciary system that would ensure justice to be administered to all without sale, denial or delay, has been anxiously and zealously recommended.

Among the measures of our national policy in which Pennsylvania is peculiarly interested, those embracing a protecting tariff, internal improvements of a national character, and the establishment of a sound currency, in which the people can have confidence without endangering their rights have been advocated upon all proper occasions. Every Act and every measure believed to be calculated to promote the general welfare, or to advance the public good, have been called into requisition to accomplish these important objects.—I shall henceforth persevere in the same principles, and continue to pursue the same course of policy.

In compliance with a usage coeval with the organization of the government, under the present constitution I have said thus much, I shall add no more, but that all the faculties and all the energies I possess shall be devoted to the service of my native state, and in advancing the prosperity and happiness of my fellow-citizens.

Harrisburg December 18th 1832.

Geo: Wolf.

The Governor then retired attended by the Committee.

Samuel McKean of the County of Bradford was then appointed and commissioned by the Governor to be Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania agreeably to the provisions of the fifteenth section of the second Article of the Constitution of the Commonwealth, to hold the said Office during the Governor's continuance in Office, if so long he shall behave himself well; and the usual and necessary oaths were duly administered to him accordingly

A Commission of Dedimus potestatem was then signed by the Governor authorising the Secretary of the Commonwealth to administer oaths of Office to certain Officers of the Government in certain cases.

Under the authority contained in an Act of the General Assembly of this Commonwealth entitled "An Act to enjoin certain duties on the Secretary of the Commonwealth and for other purposes passed the twelfth day of March One thousand seven hundred and ninety-one James Trimble was re-appointed and commissioned to be Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth, which appointment received the approbation of the Governor.—A Commission was accordingly signed by the Secretary of the Commonwealth; and a Commission of Dedimus potestatem was then signed by the Governor, and attested by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, authorising the said James Trimble to administer Oaths or affirmations to Officers of the government in certain cases.

A Proclamation was then signed by the Governor and attested by the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and being first sealed with the Great Seal of the State, was issued in the following words, that is to say:

Pennsylvania, ss:	In the Name and by the authority of the
Geo: Wolf.	Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
{ Place of the }	By George Wolf Governor
{ Great Seal }	of the said Commonwealth
	A Proclamation.

Whereas the Speaker of the Senate, and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, have duly certified, that the said Speaker of the Senate; did on the tenth day of December instant, in the Chamber of the House of Representatives in the State Capitol at Harrisburg, open and publish the returns of the late election of a Governor of the said Commonwealth in the presence of the Members of both Houses of the Legislature conformably to the Constitution of the said Commonwealth, and that upon counting the votes by a Teller appointed on the part of each House it appeared that George Wolf had a majority of votes: Whereupon the said George Wolf was declared to have been duly elected Governor of the said Commonwealth, and having first taken the oaths of Office was accordingly on this eighteenth day of December proclaimed Governor thereof—Now in pursuance of the power and trust to the Governor of this Commonwealth by the Constitution and laws granted and confided and for preventing all failures in the administration of Justice, I the said George Wolf have deemed it expedient to issue this Proclamation, hereby confirming and continuing all appointments made, and all Commissions heretofore lawfully issued for the term of six months from the date of these presents, unless the said appointments and commissions shall be sooner superseded and annulled.—And I do further direct and enjoin all Public Officers engaged in the several departments of the Government to proceed with diligence and fidelity in the performance and execution of their respective stations, so as most effectually to promote and secure the interest, peace and safety of the Commonwealth.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State at Harrisburg this eighteenth day of December, in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and thirty-two, and of the Commonwealth the fifty-seventh.

By the Governor,

Sam^l McKean, Secy Comth

{ Great Seal }	Commonth

A Proclamation.

Whereas I have received authentic information, that the body of a certain Hester Fisher has been recently found in the River Schuylkill in Whitmarsh township Montgomery County in this State, under circumstances which render it beyond a reasonable doubt, that in the words of the Coroner's inquest, she was wantonly murdered by some person unknown: And whereas the reputation of the government the peace and security of its Citizens, and the obligations of Justice and humanity require that the perpetrator of an Offence so heinous should be brought to speedy and condign punishment. I have therefore thought proper to issue this proclamation hereby offering a reward of Two hundred dollars to any person or persons who shall discover and apprehend the perpetrator or perpetrators of the aforesaid murder, which sum is to be paid on conviction of the offender or offenders. And all Judges, Justices, Sheriffs, Coroners Constables and other officers within this Commonwealth, are hereby required and enjoined to be attentive and vigilant in enquiring after, and bringing the criminal or criminals to justice.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, at Harrisburgh this twenty-eighth day of January in the year of Our Lord One thousand eight hundred and thirty three, and of the Commonwealth the fifty eighth.

The Governor at the same time also examined and maturely considered the bill entitled, "An Act to incorporate the Farmers and Manufacturers Bank of Delaware County," but not approving thereof, this day directed the Secretary of the Commonwealth to return the same to the House of Representatives in which it originated with the following reasons for his dissent."

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen,

I have examined and maturely considered bill No 27. entitled, "An Act to incorporate the Farmers and Manufacturers' Bank of Delaware County," and sincere as my desire is to concur with the General Assembly, in all their acts and measures not prohibited by the constitution nor essentially inconsistent with the public interests, or which exhibit questions of expediency only, I am nevertheless constrained to withhold my assent from the bill in question under a firm conviction, that if no immediate benefit shall result to the community in which we live from my non-concurrence, I shall at least have the satisfaction to know, that I have done my endeavour to save that community from what I conscientiously believe to be an alarming and much to be dreaded evil now manifesting itself in an excited but morbid spirit for banking and its concomitant speculation generally ending as experience has heretofore taught us in a state of depression, distress and ruin. I have therefore directed the Secretary of the Commonwealth to return the bill to the House of Representatives in which it originated, with the following reasons for my dissent.

First—The Bank of Delaware county established at Chester in that County by the Act of 1814 with a Capital of two hundred thousand dollars of which the sum of seventy seven thousand five hundred and ten dollars only has been called for and paid in by the stockholders is believed to be entirely adequate to the wants and necessities of the people and to furnish all necessary accommodations for facilitating and giving a healthful and vigorous impulse to the prosecution of the various branches of industry in progress within the county. One hundred and twenty two thousand four hundred and ninety dollars of the Capital stock of that bank, a sum considerably greater than the whole amount of Capital of the bank proposed to be created by the bill under consideration has never been required to be paid over by the stockholders. The very fact therefore, that so small an amount of the Capital of the existing bank has been called for by the directors, furnishes strong if not conclusive evidence that a greater amount of banking Capital has not hitherto been considered necessary for the accommodation of the people of Delaware county, and that an additional bank is not needed and would answer no useful purpose for mere public accommodation especially as the Bank of Delaware county by calling in the residue of its Capital may increase its discounts and extend its business beyond its present operations to an extent far exceeding that which the bank contemplated by the bill in Question would from its limited capital be enabled to do.

Second—If the bank proposed to be established by the bill under consideration had stood alone, and entirely unconnected with the general press for the incorporation of similar institutions from various parts of the State, manifest as it is that it cannot be required for any useful purpose, the passage of the bill might perhaps have been tolerated upon the ground of competition or some other plausible pretext, but we cannot shut our eyes against the alarming fact that this bill is but one of a batch of bills numbering it is believed not less than twenty three providing for the incorporation of a like number of banks reported to the Legislature in the course of the present session by which it is proposed to add to the existing banking capital within the Commonwealth the further sum of six millions nine hundred and fifty five thousand dollars. It must be obvious to the plainest capacity what a state of things such an addition to the number of Banks and to the banking Capital already in operation within the Commonwealth must necessarily produce.

It does not appear that there is any want of Banking Capital at present in the State of Pennsylvania (except perhaps in some of our manufacturing communities) to discount all the good paper that is offered or to afford any and every accommodation that prudence would Justify or our citizens could reasonably require most if not all of the banks now in operation in this Commonwealth it is believed are conducted upon correct principles and based upon solid foundations as to capital, and it is believed to be a fact that many of them would gladly extend their discounts provided a safe business offered. Under such circumstances, should the proposed number of banks or any considerable portion of them be added to those already in existence the inevitable consequence must be, that the new institutions must either remain altogether inoperative or they must invite business, which latter would be most likely as they would not be willing to remain passive spectators of the operations of their more prosperous and successful neighbours; speculation in all its destructive varieties, would thus be encouraged, a fictitious, unsound value would be given to property, excessive issues of banking paper would inundate the county, a brief but forced show of prosperity would be produced, ending as all such ephemeral excitements founded upon speculation based upon borrowed capital inevitably must end, in speedy depression bankruptcy and ruin.

Third—The currency of the Commonwealth is, in the present state of our banking institutions, considered by all as being entirely sound, uniting in the language of the committee of banks, "all the requisites of a perfect circulating medium," in that condition. I feel desirous it should remain and would therefore refrain from doing any act by which its healthful conditions might be endangered, or its character for solidity and soundness in any manner tarnished or impaired. An increase of banks in situations where the business of the community is not of a character to require it, would led to such results, and as the rage for such increase seems to be gaining strength in every part of the State, it seems to me that in order to preserve the State from return to a period of ruin and distress such as it has but recently escaped from, it is best that the evil should be met and resisted in its inception and the country saved from the disasters which a temporizing or yielding policy would be sure to entail upon it. These are my own views of this important subject hastily thrown together, should the General Assembly differ from me in opinion, and believe me to be in error it is in the power of a constitutional majority to set the matter right.

I have also examined and considered the bill entitled, "An Act to incorporate the Merchants and Manufacturers Bank of Pittsburg" and believing that the City of Pittsburg does require an extension of its Banking capital to afford the facilities and aids necessary to a vigorous and prosperous prosecution of the various and extensive commercial and manufacturing enterprises in which its citizens are engaged. I have approved and signed the same and directed the Secretary of the Commonwealth to return it to the House of Representatives in which it originated.

Wednesday April 3rd 1833.

The Governor having examined and maturely considered the bill entitled, "An Act to establish the Farmers and Traders Bank of Philadelphia," and not approving thereof, this day directed the Secretary of the Commonwealth to return the same to the House of Representatives in which it originated, with his objections as follows—that is to say:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen,

The bill entitled An Act to establish the Farmers and Traders bank of Philadelphia, has been laid before me and after a careful examination of its provisions and a full and deliberate consideration of the circumstance, connected with it, and the grounds upon which its passage has been urged, I regret that I cannot by any just process of reasoning, bring myself to the conclusion that a bank in the place where this is proposed to be located is at all called for, either for public accommodation for the advancement of trade, for affording facilities to manufacturers or for any other other object at all commensurate with the disadvantages generally resulting to the community from a too liberal indulgence in the fascinating, allurements to which such institutions invite.

There are now no less than sixteen banks located in different parts of the City and County of Philadelphia with a Capital already paid in, if my information is correct, amounting in the aggregate to a sum little short of eleven and a half millions of dollars, besides a considerable portion of capital which the stockholders may be required to pay in at the option of the directors. Four of these institutions were authorized to be incorporated by Acts of the General Assembly, passed at the last session; the passage of one if not two, of which was then urged professedly with a view to the trade and business upon the river Schuylkill; one of them the "Western Bank of Philadelphia," with a Capital of Five hundred thousand dollars, is now in full operation and is said to be located within a mile of the very centre of business upon that river. I am not aware, and I believe it is not pretended that the institution just mentioned, is indisposed or that it has not the ability to accommodate every interest and every branch of business connected with the Schuylkill trade and if the individuals or companies engaged in that traffic, can be accommodated at the Western Bank of Philadelphia, it is difficult to conceive what inducement or what necessity there can be for establishing another bank in the same neighborhood. It will scarcely be urged that the location of the Western Bank, being a mile from the Schuylkill, the distance is too great for the convenient transaction of business, if that should really be considered a serious objection, we need not be surprised if the Legislature should be called upon, by and by, to locate a bank at every business man's door.

It does not appear that there is any want of banking Capital within the City and County of Philadelphia, for the successful prosecution of all the business operations within their limits, nor is there any complaint, that I am aware of, of a want of disposition on the part of the banks, to accommodate all such as it would be prudent or safe to accommodate. Under these circumstances it does not appear that there is anything in the bill now under consideration, to distinguish it from that returned a few days since, for establishing the Farmer's and Manufacturer's Bank of Delaware county, except that this bill provides, that the Bank shall be kept open by the Officers thereof, beyond the banking hours, and until within an hour of the going down of the sun, on every business day, for the purpose of paying checks, and receiving deposits." But if the accommodations expected to be derived from this provision of the bill under consideration, should be deemed essential to men of business, the legislature, in re-chartering or extending privileges to any of the banks of the City and County of Philadelphia, already in existence, might make such provision as would promote that object. Upon the whole, I am not aware of a single circumstance connected with this bill, other than the provision above referred to, that takes it out of the general scope of the objections contained in the message accompanying the bill entitled, "An Act to incorporate the Farmer's and Manufacturer's Bank of Delaware county," returned to the House of Representatives on the 30th ultimo, and to which I would respectfully refer the General Assembly. I have therefore directed the Secretary of the Commonwealth to return it to the House of Representatives in which it originated, with my objections, that such further order may be taken thereon as the General Assembly may deem expedient.

The Governor having examined and maturely considered the Bill entitled "An Act to incorporate the People's bank of York county," and also read with attention the Resolution of the two Houses relative to the payment of certain judgments against the Commonwealth for injuries occasioned by the construction of the Pennsylvania Canal, but not approving of the same, this day directed the Secretary of the Commonwealth, to return the said bill, and resolution to the House of Representatives in which they originated with his objections and non approval of the same, vizt:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen,

I have read with attention the "Resolution relative to the payment of certain judgments against the Commonwealth for injuries occasioned by the construction of the Pennsylvania Canal," and much as I should deprecate a course of proceeding on the part of the Commonwealth or its officers at variance with the wise and just provision of the Constitution of the United States which declares "that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation," or that would vexatiously or wantonly delay individuals who have just claims for damages sustained in consequence of injuries done to their property by the public works of the State, still I cannot divest myself of the opinion, that the State has rights also, that are equally entitled to the care and protection of those entrusted with the government of its affairs, with those of its citizens individually.—I cannot therefore give my assent to a legislative act by which the State shall be denied the privilege of defending its rights before the tribunal to which it has appealed for a fair and impartial decision of the suits enumerated in the Resolution, and be charged in the very summary manner pointed out by that legislative act with the whole amount of the claims mentioned, without an opportunity of shewing their exorbitance or injustice. Recurring to the last report of the board of Canal Commissioners, I find that their predecessors on the 9th of June 1829 directed the acting Commissioner upon the Eastern division, to cause the principal part in amount of the unsatisfied judgments against the Commonwealth in the Commonpleas of Dauphin county to be removed to the Supreme Court. It appears further by the same report, that the board on the 25th day of September 1830, having viewed the premises, made an attempt under the provisions of the sixth section of the Act of the sixth April 1830, to compromise the cases depending in Dauphin county or a number of them, and with a view to put an end to litigation, offered larger sums to the claimants in the Spirit of compromise, than they themselves believed to be a fair compensation for all the injuries sustained, which attempt, with the exception of a single case proved abortive. The board state, as ground for directing the causes, which by some neglect of the acting Commissioner, had not been removed under the order of the board of 1829 to be removed during the last year—that the Judgments, as they express it, were not legal judgments, as they express it, were not legal judgments, and that they were satisfied that the amount awarded in a number of cases exceeded a fair valuation of the injuries sustained by the parties, when the advantages of the Canal are taken into consideration, and was much greater than the amount paid and agreed to be paid to others in like circumstances, and that the payment thereof would be making unfair distinctions between Citizens claiming compensation for similar injuries.—It appears therefore, from what has actually taken place, that there has been no disposition on the part of the Officers of government to protract litigation; offers of compromise were made and rejected, and believing as the board of Canal Commissioners did, that the damages in most of the cases were excessive and exorbitant, and that the interests of the Commonwealth required an appeal to the only tribunal to which they could apply for a just decision between the parties, as faithful Officers and guardians of the public interests in this behalf, they made their appeal, and having full confidence in the tribunal to which they have appealed, that justice will be done, as well to the Commonwealth as to the claimants, I feel desirous that the cases enumerated in the resolution, should remain where they are now pending, in order that they may receive a fair and impartial trial and adjudication. I feel myself constrained, therefore, to withhold my approval of the said resolution, and have directed the same to be returned to the House of Representatives in which it originated, with the reasons for my dissent, for the further action of the General Assembly thereon, should they deem it expedient.

Wednesday February 26th 1834.

A Message was this day from the Governor presented by the Secretary of the Commonwealth to both houses of the Legislature, relative to the failure on the part of the holders of the principal loan of last year to comply with their contracts, by reason whereof the sum of twenty five thousand dollars still remains undisposed of, and that for the balance of the said principal loan amounting to seven hundred and twenty nine thousand, three hundred and fifty four dollars and forty four cents, which had been thrown into the market and which was expected would have been negotiated on the twenty second instant, not a bid was received, a disappointment so extraordinary, was scarcely to have been expected, even under the present deranged state of the money market; but whilst we may regret that a combination of circumstances, so unpropitious and discouraging in their character and bearing upon the important interests of the Commonwealth should exist, it is at the same time gratifying to know, that the causes in which they originated are not ascribable to any depression of the credit of the state; to any want of punctuality in meeting its engagements; in the payment of interest on its debt or to any mismanagement on the part of those to whom he had intrusted the charge and administration of its fiscal and other concerns. I infer this from the fact that if such cause had existed, its notoriety would long since have been made manifest. It is said by those conversant with those matters, and whose opportunities of acquiring correct information on the subject entitles them to belief that Pennsylvania Stocks are in as good credit, and maintain as high prices in foreign market now as they have done at any time heretofore. To what cause are we then to look for the difficulties which embarrass on every side? It must be owing to extraneous circumstances, unconnected with the Commonwealth or its transactions over which it has no control. We must be indebted it is presumed for this unpropitious state of things to the existing excitement and alarm got up in relation to a supposed general state of pressure, distress and embarrassment, said now to be prevalent in the money market and about which we hear so much. All confidence in the currency of the country is said to be destroyed, that banks as well as individual capitalists are unwilling to adventure upon speculations or investments of any kind, or to part with their money upon any terms. Various causes have been assigned for this alarming state of things all more or less plausible. Among others it is said that the removal of the public deposits from the bank of the United States, by the General Government, has been the means of producing all the mischief and pressure under which the country is now labouring: and yet many of the friends of that institution admit that a restoration of the deposits is not necessary to the relief of the money market. Whatever other causes may exist it cannot be disguised that we have amongst us a powerful, monied institution which is at this time seeking by all the means of which it is capable to accomplish certain objects indispensable to its existence; and having an energetic a firm and unbending antagonist to contend against all its energies and all its powers (and they are of no ordinary character) have been put in motion to defeat his measures and to frustrate his designs in relation to it.

It can scarcely be doubted from the course of operations that institution has been pursuing for some time past (whether justifiable or not I will not undertake to determine) that the State is indebted in a great measure for its disappointments heretofore, and for the failure to obtain its loan on Saturday last. Whether by bringing indiscriminate ruin and distress upon an unoffending community by the Bank is the most certain mode of obtaining a return of the public deposits, a renewal of its charter or an extension of time to wind up its business, is a question for those who have the direction and management of its affairs, to determine. A milder and more liberal course might have been attended with more favourable results. The State of Pennsylvania may be crippled and embarrassed in her pecuniary arrangements and paralyzed for a time in her efforts to complete her great chain of improvements, by the depressing policy of the Bank, but that is no reason why we should despair of the Commonwealth; our public works may languish for a season, but will not be suffered to languish long: the resources of the State are ample; her credit is unimpaired; her public stocks although under a monetary depression at home are highly acceptable abroad, and will before long be as eagerly sought after by the capitalist as ever; the crisis in our pecuniary affairs must soon arrive if we have not already reached it—the clouds of distress and despondency which have been in my humble estimation inconsiderately and needlessly brought upon us must soon be removed, and a happy change and a more prosperous era must inevitably await us. In the mean time the balance of the old loan for which no offer was obtained on Saturday last, will be again placed in the market and continued there untill it shall have been negotiated. I would take this occasion respectfully to recommend to the consideration of the General Assembly the propriety of passing a law forthwith authorizing a call upon the several State Banks which by their charters are bound to loan to the Commonwealth, five per cent of their Capital actually paid in for a compliance of that provision part of this sum to be applied to the payments of debts of the Commonwealth, due to contractors upon the public works, and the residue thereof to be made applicable to repairs along the lines of the public improvements. The board of Canal Commissioners will give the necessary information in reference to the sum that ought to be made applicable to each object. An immediate suspension of the work upon the several lines of improvement, until the loan first mentioned shall have been negotiated, will be indispensable. Permit me also respectfully to urge upon the consideration of the General Assembly the propriety of authorizing a loan of such a sum as will sufficient to finish the public works now in progress at least; for although the prospect is gloomy, and the money market may continue to be embarrassed for a time, yet that gloom and that embarrassment may pass away like a mist before the morning sun, and our pecuniary affairs may take a turn so favourable, as to enable us not only to obtain a loan upon advantageous terms, but also to complete the works alluded to, before the end of the coming season.

"An Act to incorporate the Lumbersmans Bank at Warren" The return of this Act was accompanied by the following reasons of the Governor.—

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Gentlemen.—I have this day approved and signed the bill entitled "An Act to incorporate the Lumbersmans Bank at Warren" In returning this bill it is proper to state that my opinion in relation to Banks has undergone no change, but that my convictions of their pernicious tendency generally have become strengthened and confirmed by reflections suggested by recent events. The Bank proposed to be established, however, by the bill now under consideration, is intended to be located in the extreme North Western part of this State, remote from any monied institution within the State, and is intended to accomodate a community, consisting of a hardy industrious, and enterprising yeomanry, engaged in the profitable but labourious business of lumbering, which is said to require a greater Capital to carry it on successfully, than can be furnished by individual means, and exposes those engaged in it, to the oppressive, usurious, exactions of the banks and brokers of a neighbouring state.—To afford relief to this valuable class of citizens, from the oppressive conduct on the part of those to whom they are obliged to apply for accommodations of which they complain, and to extend to them the same facilities, to enable them to conduct their business successfully, which are enjoyed by their fellow citizens in other parts of the State, I deem it an act of justice to them to approve the said bill, and directed the Secretary to return the same to the house of Representatives in which it originated.

A Certificate of the election of Joseph Ritner, as Governor of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania, agreeably to the constitution of the said commonwealth, signed by the speaker of the Senate, and by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, was presented to the Governor elect, who thereupon was introduced by a joint committee of both Houses of the Legislature, in joint meeting in the chamber of the House of Representatives, where being seated in front of the Speakers of both Houses, the oaths required by the constitution and Laws of the commonwealth were administered to him, in due form, by the Speaker of the Senate, in the presence of the members of the Senate, and the Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives, and the said oaths were subscribed by him.

Proclamation of the said election, having been duly made and the Governor being duly qualified as aforesaid, he addressed both Houses of the Legislature, in joint meeting in the following words, to wit.

Fellow Citizens,

The people of the State have intrusted to me, for the ensuing three years, the performance of the duties of the Executive Department of the Government. I accept the trust with the profoundest gratitude for the honor conferred, and the most unfeigned diffidence of my ability to fulfil its various and important duties, in such a manner as to meet their just and reasonable expectations.

The office of Chief Magistrate of a large and growing community, is at all times one of much responsibility. Most especially is it so at the present juncture in Pennsylvania. Questions of great moment, many of them novel, and all intimately connected, with the feelings and interests of the people, demand his care and attention.

Perhaps a selfish caution, would on those subjects indicate silence as the safest course for one just entering on the office of Chief Magistrate. But he who assumes that station, is called to it, not for the purpose of consulting his own convenience, or his own feelings but the wishes and prosperity of the whole community. It cannot be supposed that I have entered upon it without having previously adopted certain leading principles, for the regulation of my Executive conduct. To an early knowledge of them, my fellow citizens have an undoubted right.

And before entering upon questions of more immediate interest to us as citizens of this State, I would desire it to be distinctly understood, that I possess a proper estimate of the importance of Pennsylvania, both as a State, and as a member of the great national family. While the rights and feelings of every part of the Union will be scrupulously respected, and its perpetuation and honor, cordially promoted, I shall not consent to sacrifice the interests of Pennsylvania, to propitiate power, or conciliate favor in any quarter, however high and influential.

Among subjects of State policy, there is one of most prominent interest, The great system of Internal improvement, in which we have been for years engaged, has incumbered the resources, and deranged the finances of the Commonwealth; produced new, but as yet nearly untried channels for business, and springs to private enterprise: and materially affected the occupations and interests of the people. The cares and duties of those who administer the Legislative and Executive Departments of the Government are in the same proportion increased. Sound policy demands, that operations which have thus shaken the old order of things, and that public works which have cost so much, should as speedily as possible, be made to answer the great object for which they were originally designed—the public good. To accomplish it the most vigorous measures and the most rigid economy, are absolutely necessary, and will be enforced. Every exertion will be made to give energy a certainty, to a system, which as yet has exhibited little more than a doubtful promise of utility, commensurate with the sacrifices made for its accomplishment.

With the vast debt already contracted before us, prudence would forbid the undertaking of any new, separate and independent work, until those now in operation and in progress, prove by actual experience to be capable of sustaining themselves, and furnish evidence, that they will in a reasonable time, extinguish their original cost, without resort to taxation. But where further extension of the public works are necessary, to render those already made, or in progress, profitable and beneficial, economy and sound policy, and a just regard for the interests of the people, would require such extension, to be authorized and completed.

Next in order to the developement and care of the physical resources of the Commonwealth, though of vastly higher moment in itself, is the cultivation of its mental energies. A System of Common School education, has been recently commenced. It will afford me sincere pleasure to co-operate with the Legislature, in the attempt to give it real usefulness, by adapting it to the wants and feelings of the people.

The permanency of a Republic, depends on the virtue of its citizens, Whilst they are virtuous and intelligent, the acts of their agents will be restrained, and directed to the public good, which is the only legitimate object of all governments. Industry and economy in all the transactions and conduct of individuals, are the principal promoters of that independence of character, and of that virtue, on which so far as mere human agency avails, depends the existence of a government, republican, not solely in name, but in reality. It is therefore the imperative duty of those in authority, to protect the weak against the powerful, and to foster and encourage the laborious, the industrious, and the economical, in every class in society. To the performance of this duty, I pledge the co-operation of the Executive branch of the government.

The maintenance of a sound currency, is one of the most difficult but indispensable duties of those who administer the government, in a community⁴ possessing such various interests, as that to which we belong. Convenience, and that consideration alone, has caused the substitution of paper money for specie. The idea that money was to be made by speculating on the inconvenience of a metallic currency; or that paper money was to be created, merely to enable a few to realize large sums, by turning the act of its creation to their own account, never for a moment, entered the minds of those who first adopted this useful and valuable expedient. Their object was the obtainment, of a representative, possessing all the utility and value, without any of the inconvenience of the thing represented. In this point of view, the increase of the substitute, beyond the actual value and amount of its principal, is a fraud upon the public. The man who takes it in payment for his labor, his goods, or his land, is cheated. My object will therefore be, on the one hand to confine, as far as in me lies, the amount of paper money, within the bounds just stated: while on the other, public accommodation and the demands of business, will be consulted.

The exercise of the appointing power, is a task of much delicacy. The present constitution, has entrusted it to the judgment and discretion of the Chief Magistrate. His object should be the selection of officers, who will advance the comfort and prosperity of all, by a faithful, honest, and efficient discharge of their duty. While the power remains in my hands, that object will be kept in view.

The supremacy of the laws, and the equal rights of the people, whether threatened or assailed by individuals, or by secret sworn associations, I shall so far as may be compatible with the Constitutional power of the Executive, endeavor to maintain, as well in compliance with the known will of the people, as from obligations of duty to the commonwealth. In these endeavors I shall entertain no doubt of zealous co-operation, by the enlightened and patriotic legislature of the State. The people have willed the destruction of all secret societies, and that will cannot be disregarded.

In the attempt to render the power of the Laws equal and Supreme over all, that certainty in their operation, which is so essentially conducive to the prevention of crime, should be also kept in view. In a community possessing a criminal code so proverbially mild, and a mode of trial so fair and open, as that to which we belong: the pardoning power should be rarely and with extreme caution interposed. I trust I shall be enabled in the use of it, to listen only to the demands of public justice, and the general good. No consideration arising from feelings of mere pity, or from respect of person or station, shall influence my conduct. When punishment is certain, crime decreases, and then only may the severity of the laws, with safety be still further mitigated.

I enter upon the discharge of the arduous duties of the office of Governor, with the constitutions which I have just sworn to support, as the guide, and the prosperity of the people of Pennsylvania, as the object of my labors: relying upon the Legislature for aid, in my endeavors to serve our common constituents, and upon the candor and liberality of my fellow citizens, to excuse the unintentional and unavoidable errors that may occur in my administration of the government. That those errors may not be permanently injurious to my native state, is my sincere prayer to that Being, on whom alone sure reliance can be placed, and from whom cometh that wisdom which cannot err.

Joseph Ritner

Harrisburg December 15th 1835.

A Commission of Dedimus Protestatum was then signed by the Governor, authorizing the Secretary of the Commonwealth, and Joseph Henderson to administer oaths of office, to certain officers of the government, in certain cases,
